

ARTICLE APPEARED
ON PAGE 6A

USA TODAY
26 June 1986

CAPITAL LINE

PEOPLE WATCH

5 ■ Author Seymour Hersh says he's baffled by a warning from CIA Director William Casey that a forthcoming Hersh book may violate national security laws. Hersh and publisher Random House say no pre-publication copies are available, and they're curious how the USA's chief spook knows what's in it. The book is about the 1983 downing of a Korean passenger airliner by the Soviet Union.

Written by Paul Leavitt. Contributing: Richard Latture, Jeannie Williams, Bob Minzesheimer, Marilyn Adams, Kristin D. Wells and Karen De Witt.